Smiling Albino (SA) continues to blaze exciting new trails in Asia

After more than 11 years leading tailor-made adventures in Asia, Smiling Albino continues to lead the way in the active, customized, upper-travel market. From innovative trips in Vietnam, Cambodia, Thailand, Nepal, a slate of motorcycle adventures and expanded Community Projects, SA continues to stay ahead of the curve.

“Each year we’re in the region we continue to challenge our creative juices, push travel boundaries and come up with new, innovative travel ideas for singles, couples and families,” explains SA co-founder, Daniel Fraser. “We’ve spent a lot of time researching and testing how to get the best Vietnam experience in two weeks, and the result is our 13-day Vietnam Grand Slam which takes travellers from Hanoi to Saigon and a lot of places in between using multiple modes of transport and tailored experiences in each location.”

A hobby and passion has led to a suite of unique motorcycle experiences around the region. “The unique feature of our motorcycle trips is that we specialize in everything from classic chopper riding to on/off-road dirt-bike trips,” says SA co-founder Scott Coates. “Our top off-road trip is Good Dirty Fun, a challenging series of routes for experienced riders. Isaan Steel Horses is a journey through Thailand’s seldom travelled NE (Isaan) on classic American-style choppers while our most unique two-wheeled journey is Enfield Enigma, navigating Nepal’s back roads and Himalayan valleys atop vintage Royal Enfield motorcycles.

Getting involved in local communities has always been a passion and guiding force for SA. Their most recent Community Program sees a tuk-tuk driver in Siem Reap, Cambodia provide transport several times per month to sick children in need of care at Angkor Hospital for Children (<http://www.smilingalbino.com/about-us/community.php>).
